9/14/71

Dear Jim,

I've skimmed the 7/25/71 National Enquirer sent to day by "A Friend". The handwriting seems familiar. Other samples of it?

If there is any significance in the sending of this thing, which offhand does not seem to be the case, my hunch is that it would be in the story quoting Billy Graham as living in fear of assassination. I didn't read the story, but I did the headline.

I suppose there are a certain number of sick people who get an urge to do something that to them may have a meaning others do not see.

Best,
